

We are truck drivers and as such there are times when we need to know about weather conditions and also traffic conditions between where we are and where we are going. XM Radio gives us the ability to get this information without having to play with the radio trying to find a station for somewhere in between. I personally don't know of any stations other than the XM stations that I can get from a couple of hundred miles away. There is also the fact that other drivers call in and tell about accidents or obstructions of one kind or another all over the country and there are times that this comes in very handy. Things like wrecks that are going to keep the highway closed for hours, then we can reroute ourselves and not be part of the problem. This is why we like the XM so much and why we don't understand why the NAB is trying to stop such a valuable service and tool that helps us do our job.
